ORGANIZATIONAL CONTEXT

The Office of the Prosecutor ("OTP" or the "Office") is an independent organ of the International Criminal Court ("ICC" or the "Court") headed by a Prosecutor who is elected by the Assembly of State Parties for a non-renewable mandate of nine years. The Prosecutor is responsible for examining situations under the jurisdiction of the Court where genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes and crime of aggression appear to have been committed, and for carrying out preliminary examinations, investigations and prosecutions.

Under the Rome Statute, the Office is not only vested with legal independence from the other organs of the Court, it is also granted operational independence. The Prosecutor has full authority over the management and administration of the OTP, including staff, facilities and other resources.

The Prosecutor will be supported by two Deputy Prosecutors, who, under delegated authority and under his leadership, will manage the two Prosecution Pillars of the OTP and undertake the related duties and functions as set out below. The two Prosecution Pillars of the OTP will ensure increased integration and effectiveness of the Office's core activities on the basis of the unified team concept. The Prosecution Pillars are populated by Appeals Counsel, Trial Lawyers, Trial Support Assistants, Case Managers, Investigators, Analysts (including those working on preliminary examinations), International Cooperation Advisors and other staff.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Deputy Prosecutors will report directly to the Prosecutor and will be responsible for the management, supervision and direction of the two integrated Prosecution Pillars, under the direct guidance and supervision of the Prosecutor.

Within delegated authority, the core duties of the Deputy Prosecutors include:

- Managing the performance of all components of the Prosecution Pillars, including completing appraisals for senior team members;
- Overseeing preliminary examinations, investigations, prosecutions, and when necessary, appeals proceedings;
- Providing strategic advice and guidance to the Prosecutor on each situation and case under her/his responsibility. This will include recommendations on prioritization and effective use of resources;
- In consultation with the Prosecutor, overseeing the drafting, review, revision and implementation of relevant standard operating procedures and guidelines, and ensuring quality control within the Prosecution Pillars ;
- Ensuring effective coordination within and between the two Prosecution Pillars, maintaining an alignment with the overall vision and strategy of the Prosecutor;
- Coordinating workflows with the Integrated Services Division that will service both Prosecution Pillars with a view to optimizing integration and effectiveness;

- Ensuring prioritization and focus, at all stages from preliminary examinations onwards, on sexual and gender-based crimes and crimes against and affecting children. Prioritization may also include crimes against cultural heritage and other strategic priority areas identified by the Prosecutor;
- Reviewing filings and briefs before submission to the Chambers of the Court, in consultation with the Prosecutor, to ensure that they are supported by evidence and/or legal authority, and that confidential and sensitive information are properly managed for each submission;
- Ensuring compliance with, and adherence to, the budgetary processes of the Office, and contributing to discussions on the budgetary allocations and needs of the Office;
- Nurturing an environment conducive to staff wellbeing, building trust and ensuring managers and other staff are held accountable for a workplace free from discrimination, harassment of any kind, or abuse of authority;
- Fostering transparent and inclusive decision-making processes;
- Participating in the overall governance of the OTP;
- Fulfil any other task as requested by the Prosecutor.

ESSENTIAL QUALIFICATIONS

The successful candidate will have to demonstrate that she or he possesses the following competencies and skills to the highest standard:

Professionalism – knowledge and extensive experience in management and the practice of criminal law and/or international criminal law, including competence in and adherence to the relevant standards of conduct and experience in identification and implementation of best practices; strong conceptual and analytical skills, with the ability to identify problems and propose solutions; conscientious efficiency in honouring commitments, meeting deadlines and achieving results.

Strategic awareness – ability to identify strategic issues, opportunities and risks and to generate and communicate broad and compelling organisational and strategic direction and objectives to all stakeholders; ability to identify challenges (in particular, those arising from and related to the specific nature of the Court) and respond effectively thereto; demonstrable ability to provide strategic direction.

Leadership – proven and demonstrable track record of excellent management and technical leadership skills; ability to deal effectively with sensitive and contentious matters under pressure; proven ability to develop clear goals that are consistent with the agreed strategies and to establish excellent relationships and build team spirit with staff of the Office and a broad range of interlocutors.

Planning and Organizing – excellence in successful planning with strong managerial skills; proven ability to plan and establish priorities and to ensure effective work structure to maximize efficiency and effectiveness and to achieve goals.

Judgement/decision making – mature judgement and initiative, imagination and resourcefulness, energy and tact; proven ability to identify key issues in complex situations and to take adequate decisions being aware of the impact on others and on the Office and the Court more broadly.

Communication – excellent oral and written communication and negotiation skills with proven ability to establish and maintain effective interpersonal relationship in a multicultural, multi-ethnic environment with sensitivity and respect for diversity including gender awareness.
